

Electronic Communication at SCS: Edsby, enews, and the SCS Website

Edsby

Edsby, our learning management system, will reopen to parents and students on Tuesday, September 4. New parents will receive an email invitation to join Edsby. On Edsby, you will find SCS news, information about your daughter's classes, and resources for both parents and students. You will also have access to your daughter's class schedule and the time and location of curricular field trips, co-curricular activities, and other school events. You will be able to communicate directly with your daughter's teachers and the administration through Edsby, and will have access to resources such as parent-teacher interview registration and electronic report cards for Upper School students. If you are interested in learning more about how Edsby can help you and your daughter navigate her SCS life, we encourage you to join the first SCS Parents' Association meeting of the year on Tuesday, September 11 at 8:30 a.m., for an information session and Q&A on Edsby with our members of our Information Technology Department.

enews

Watch for the first edition of enews, our weekly electronic newsletter for the SCS community, in your email inbox on Thursday, August 30. Ordinarily, you can expect to receive enews every Friday afternoon at 5:00 p.m. When there is a long weekend, you can expect to receive an earlier edition.

SCS Website

While we complete our annual maintenance to Edsby, you can find parent resources on the SCS website at www.scs.on.ca/parents.
